

Showcasing Trust research outputs: launching a freely accessible institutional research publications repository at the Royal Devon & Exeter NHS Foundation Trust

Pamela Geldenhuys (Acting Library Manager) & Kate Newell (Reader Services/Research Support Librarian)
Exeter Health Library, Royal Devon & Exeter NHS Foundation Trust

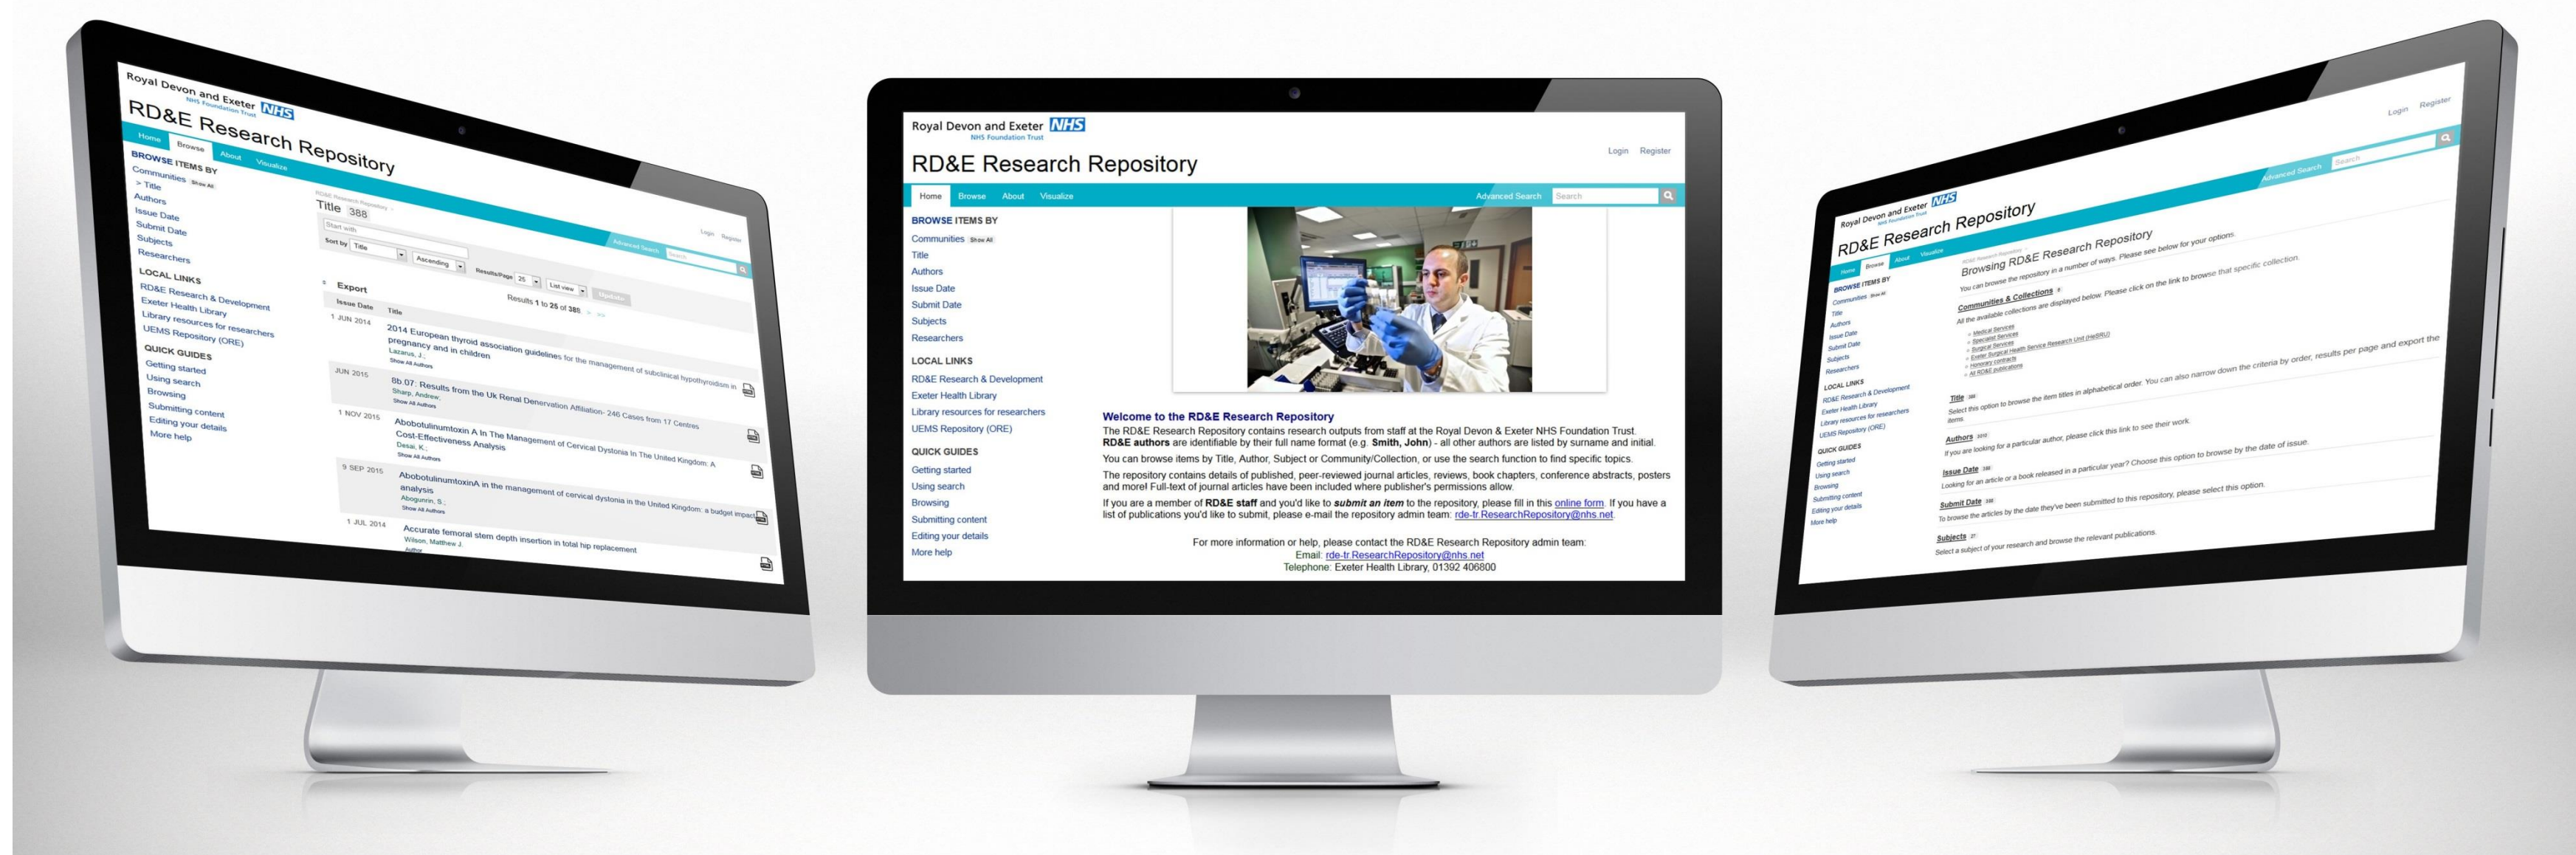

The problem

Assembling, collating and presenting research publication data for R&D annual reports = time consuming & laborious!

The solution

Investing in third party hosted software solution and working in partnership with the Trust library service to collect, manage & quality check publications data

Benefits of the software

- ✓ Custom build repository structure
- ✓ Initial batch upload of data
- ✓ Capacity to store files as well as data (PDFs, images, videos etc)
- ✓ Durable URL (handle) for each item
- ✓ Researcher profile pages
- ✓ Data easily exported
- ✓ Site statistics
- ✓ No internal server costs

Benefits to R&D department

- ✓ Data collected and added weekly (from PubMed and other sources)
- ✓ Data quality checked & submitted by library staff
- ✓ Authors associated with Specialties during item submission
- ✓ Data easily extracted into Excel format for reporting
- ✓ Showcase for Trust research outputs

Benefits to researchers

- ✓ Article information is added for them
- ✓ Can create a publicly accessible researcher profile – acts like a CV!
- ✓ Compliant with researcher funder's Open Access policies
- ✓ ORCID can be added to repository entries
- ✓ Increased visibility, discoverability and citations of research articles

“The repository has saved me WEEKS of work!”
